IS NOT THIS LAST CALAMITY ENOUGH TO AROUSE COUNTY?

Fellow Citizens of Middlesex County: Across the street from my home, Mrs. Coles with her three little ones has been waiting since the explosion of Saturday to learn the fate of her husband. She still waits.

Not two blocks to the east the young widow of Lester Spencer mourns for her dead. Such a little while it seems since Harold Slade was a boy in my class. His name is on the list of dead.

In the home of President Pettit of the Haritan Township Board of Education lies the lifeless body of his son-in-law. His daughter is a widow and her babies are fatherless.

Erna Messaros, whose parents were trying to give her so many of the American parents have found her life greatly changed, for in her home at Nixon are only three people left—the mother and the baby brother. Saturday's catastrophe robbed them of the father.

At school a boy steps softly on a dynamite explosive and a change of school because her father was hurt so bad in the explosion. Maybe he can't walk any more.

Very respectfully, SUEAN M. ELLIIPS, Principal Bonhamtown School, 57 Center Street, New Brunswick, N. J., March 3, 1924.

Old Man Weiskraks, who can always be depended upon to supply the latest gossip, supplemented by a few original comments whenever and wherever he can corner someone willing to listen to his prattle, was the victim of circumstances, last night, and will spend considerable time and energy in telling the world about it for the next few days to come.

It seems that the Old Boy himself met with an accident yesterday that will not happen again, by god, if he can help it. No Sir—no! Unfortunately, while trying to extract a "cham" of cut plug which he had saved for his after-dinner treat, he slipped and fell.

The Old Boy had no choice. There was one thing for him to do as a Public-Spirited-Citizen. It was his duty to at least witness the event so that his voice might not be found wanting when the event was discussed.

$9,085 For Land Of U. S. Rubber Firm In Bridge Widening

(Special Service of Home News) TRENTON, March 5.—For necessary rights of way to allow the widening of the Albany street bridge over the Haritan River in New Brunswick, the State Highway Commission at its meeting today decided to call on the United States Rubber Company $9,085, and to replace as much of the existing bulkhead as is necessary.

When the acquisition of the property was originally considered by the State Highway Commission, the price was $10,000. The price was reduced to $9,085 after the company had been notified that the price was excessive and further negotiations were opened by him, resulting in the lower amount.

To forestall any claim for damages by the W. J. Donnell Lumber Company, who is the National Fireproofing Company, by reason of the construction of the New Perth Amboy-South Amboy Bridge, the highway commissioner has decided to construct bulkheads which will permit these concerns to have access to their property while the construction work is in progress.
