ALL CITY OFFICIALS' TERMS END

With Adoption of Commission Government Plan—Details of Form of Municipal Rule Explained by Ex-Mayor Viehmann.

About fifty citizens gathered in the Board of Trade last evening and adopted a temporary organization for the purpose of bringing about the adoption of the commission form of government in this city.

Charles D. Deshier was made temporary chairman, and F. M. Yorston temporary secretary. In nominating Deshier a neat compliment was made that gentleman by John A. Wall, referred to the active work performed by Mr. Deshier's ancestors in the community.

Ex-Mayor George A. Viehmann presided at the meeting to order and announce its purpose. He declared the Board of Trade, under the auspices of the gathering was arranged, not proposed to take an active stand against any individual political party, but has felt that the present system of municipal government, founded as it is upon a charter adopted in 1863, contains features that are obsolete and unmodern conditions.

"We believe," said Mr. Viehmann, "that many officials are prevented from doing their best under the present system of city rule. The responsibility is so divided that a servant, no matter how willing may be, finds his hands tied and his helplessness. The movement is one in which every citizen should engage, and the Trade Board finance the venture in the hope of a Commission Government which will result."

MRS. J. BORDEN HARRIMAN.
New York Philanthropist Who Was Injured In Auto Accident.

Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, who was with him in the automobile, is so much improved that she planned to leave the hospital to-day. At the institution, this morning, however, it was said that she probably would not be allowed to do so.

Recall Explained.

It was explained by Mr. Viehmann that a commissioner could only be "recalled" after he had served one year, and, should the vote on the subject of recalling such an official be in his favor, no second attempt can be made during the same term of office. No party lines are drawn and the ward feature is lost sight of, although there is nothing to prevent any political organization from selecting candidates for their backing. Such candidates, however, can have no political designation.

In answer to questions it was brought out that the commissioners are not compelled to give their entire time to the work of their positions. They have power to grant or refuse liquor licenses, and may, if they so desire, delegate that power to an Excise Board to be named by the county judge, as was the case in this city until recently. Any vacancy occurring among the commissioners, either by death or resignation, may be filled for the whole term by vote of the remaining members.

Mr. Viehmann emphasized the thought that nothing has been done in the way of selecting candidates for the office of commissioner, and added the statement that there was nothing hidden in the present movement and that, following the adoption of the act, the organization would disband.

Chairman Deshier announced that he will appoint a committee to complete details concerning the big mass meeting to be held in the near future. At this time addresses will be given by one or more speakers, and a permanent organization will be effected.

These Were Present.

Among those present last evening were:

J. M. Barkelew, Samuel Bears, T. Handy Beam, Charles Bruns, Hugh Boyd, Charles Cathcart, W. H. Colburn, Isidor Cohn, J. S. Dahmer, Charles Deshier, M. Frankel, A. A. Hastings, Ralph Holman, Robert Hyde, Isidor P. Hirsch, George D. Johnson, Abraham Jelin, Rev. J. A. Ingham, Henry Landsberg, Mr. Lawrence, Jacob G. Lipman.

Walter T. Marvin, John J. Monaghan, Charles A. McCormick, J. J. McCloskey, R. C. Nicholas, H. A. Neilson, Henry G. Parker, W. H. Pettit, T. Henry Rastall, Fred G. Robinson, Dr. C. E. Sausberry.

Wm. Schlesinger, Jesse Strauss, Dr. Austin Scott, Henry Seiffert, C. W. Schroeder, Dr. A. L. Smith, Geo. A. Viehmann, Chester W. Wood, John P. Wall, Fritz Wittig, H. B. Zimmerman, and others.

OFFICIALS MISSING.

The Board of Trade president declared that an invitation had been issued to every city official, and no reason upon the personnel of the officials is intended. Alderman Holman and Street Commissioner Abe Jelin, with Water Commissioner W. H. Colburn, were the city officials to avail themselves of the invitation to attend. A note expressing the sense of the committee to arrange a mass meeting on the subject of commission government was unanimously adopted.

After stating that he, with four others, had prepared the original plan of the commission government adopted by the Legislature, Mr. Viehmann explained at some length the principal features of the law. In order to bring about its adoption, a petition must be filed with the city clerk, bearing the signature of at least 20 per cent. of the voters of the city, as shown in the returns at the last Assembly election. The city clerk must forthwith call a special election to be held on the second Tuesday following the date of the petition. At this election the petition must receive at least 20 per cent. of the total vote of the city shown in the last Assembly election returns. Should the vote in favor of adoption be a favorable one, there must be a primary election on the fourth Tuesday following the date upon which the proposition to adopt was carried.

"BUT I DO GET APOLOGY," SAYS JELIN

SAYS ANOTHER ALDERMAN BROUGHT RETRACTION FROM KINNEY—"NO, I'M NOT THE MAN," SAYS ALDERMAN OLIVER—11 OTHER GUESSES.

It was Street Commissioner Abraham Jelin's turn to say something to-day, and he said it thus:

"An apology was made to me for what Alderman Peter Kinney said about me on May 6. It came through a third party, a prominent Alderman. Somebody told me I ought to have it in writing, but I didn't think it was necessary. But now I know it was necessary."

Mr. Jelin made this statement because of Alderman Kinney's denial in last night's Home News that he had made a retraction or authorized anyone else to do so. When Jelin's suit against Kinney came up in the District Court Thursday, his counsel announced that a satisfactory explanation had been made.

It was rumored that Alderman Charles A. Oliver had been the go-between of the contestants, but that gentleman said this morning that it wasn't so.

"I made no apology for Mr. Kinney to Mr. Jelin, and I wasn't authorized to make one," he said.

There are eleven other Aldermen, so there may be that many more guesses.

MAJOR APPELEGET HEADS G. A. R.

TRENTON, May 20.—By a vote of 173 to 140 Major Adrian S. Applegate of this city, yesterday defeated Charles B. Parsons, of Red Bank, for State Department Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, the contest being one of the liveliest in years.

There were three candidates for the command of the Grand Army of the Republic in this city, J. P. McDonald, of Jersey City, who received forty-four votes, withdrawing in order that one of the other two contestants might obtain a majority.

The new Commander is a distinctively representative New Jersey soldier, a great-grandson of Captain David Baird, who was one of Washington's cavalry leaders. Mr. Applegate was born and raised in this city and enlisted in June, 1861, in Captain Kilpatrick's troop A, which later became the famous guards of Major General Wood and the First New York Mounted Rifles.

Before adjournment, a resolution was passed asking the State Supreme Court to name a civil war veteran to the vacancy in the Board of Managers for the Soldiers' Home at Kearny.

JUDGE DALY'S BIRTHDAY

Everybody in Court yesterday wondered why Judge Daly was so exceptionally benign. Not that his Honor isn't gracious as a general thing. The wonder was that it was possible for him to be so much more so than the average. He commuted the sentences of two prisoners, and only rapped for order once when the conversation in the room became too general.

He didn't even show a sign of impatience when the lawyers were arguing before him and that was extraordinary because the disputants included Judge Gowenhoven and no less than three Perth Amboy barristers.

The secret of it all was that yesterday was the Judge's birthday. He was 44, he admits.

MR. M'ADOO IS COMFORTABLE; NO DANGER

Mrs. Harriman Expected to Leave St. Peter's Hospital To-day, But May Not Be Permitted—"Irony of Fate," Says the Tunnel Builder.

William G. McAdoe, the tunnel builder, who was brought to St. Peter's Hospital Thursday night after having three ribs and an arm broken in an automobile accident near Matawan, is still resting comfortably, and no fears are entertained for him.

Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, who was with him in the automobile, is so much improved that she planned to leave the hospital to-day. At the institution, this morning, however, it was said that she probably would not be allowed to do so.

Mr. Harriman visited her yesterday, and she spent considerable time at the telephone talking to her daughter Ethel at the Harriman city home, 35 East 49th street. That place was prepared for a reception last night, but she may prefer to go to her country place at Mount Kisco, which was opened for the summer last Tuesday, when she leaves the hospital.

Mrs. McAdoe is ill at her country home in Irvington-on-the-Hudson, and was unable to come to her husband. He sent her word Thursday night of his hurts, assuring her that he would pull through all right. Charles J. Fiske, of New York, was among the tunnel man's visitors yesterday.

"I expect to get out very quickly," Mr. McAdoe said to a reporter yesterday. "I think I will go over to St. Vincent's Hospital when I get to New York and let the X-ray do its work on me."

"It looks like the irony of fate. Here we were engaged in a work of philanthropy, which interested Mrs. Harriman and me very much, when we are made to suffer one of the most unusual accidents with most undesirable results."

"I have driven over that very road at least a dozen times. But this layer of loose, fresh gravel or sand the workmen had spread on, about 18 inches thick, instantly stopped the machine when I hit it. Then I did not know any more until they got me up and nearly here, I guess. The spot was at the brow of a hill, about three miles from Matawan. I have heard that the car is badly damaged. The steering gear is all out of shape and the chassis wrecked badly."

Mr. McAdoe was besieged with messages of sympathy yesterday and to-day.

HELP POOR FIGHT, GIRLS SAY

Census Bureau Employees Resent Mrs. Hammond's Generosity.

Washington, May 20.—Mrs. John Hays Hammond, wife of the special ambassador of the United States to the coronation of King George and president of the women's welfare department of the National Civic Federation, thought it would be nice to send some ice cream to the thousand girls who were working in the census bureau. She acted on the impulse and the girls forthwith refused to accept it and held an indignation meeting. When the two wagons loaded with ice cream pulled up before the census bureau the representatives of the women's welfare department found the census employees several points hotter than they had been at any other time.

"If the women of the welfare department have money to spend let them buy ice for the poor of Washington," was the message of thanks that the welfare people got. One of the clerks, a woman who gets $1,800 a year, acted as spokesman.

Mrs. Hammond was very much surprised when she was informed of the action taken by the clerks.

HAS COOK QUIT TOWN FOR GOOD?

Court Officials Say They Don't Know Where He Is, But They Are Optimistic—Prosecutor Booram Says the Gallagher Bond Still Holds Good.

Lawyer Harry B. Cook's whereabouts still remain a mystery, and while the court officials profess no anxiety about him, believing that he will return when the time comes for his sentence on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses from Mrs. Walter Church, they admit that they do not know where he is. If anybody knows he is not telling.

Mrs. Cook said this morning that she had received word from her husband, but declined to say where he was.

"Everything will certainly be all right," she said, "but I do not care to say anything more about the matter now." Mr. Cook's daughter, by his first wife, Miss Minnie Cook, is with him. She is a High School graduate about 19, and an accomplished and attractive girl.

Prosecutor Booram said this morning that he did not know where the convicted lawyer was, but expressed confidence that he would be on hand when wanted.

"Moreover," said the Prosecutor, "it is not true that he is not under bonds. Though Michael Gallagher, his bondsman, wrote to the court that he would not be responsible for him, there was no legal surrender of his person, and the bail still holds. Gallagher is known in Dunellen as a great fighter in municipal affairs. He is supposed to be in Newark now."

There were all sorts of wild rumors about the lawyer after the Home News last night gave the first news of his leaving town. The favorite story seemed to be that he had gone to Canada, and some had him located in Montreal.

The lawyer's friends express the opinion that he has simply gone out of town for a little quiet pending the time when he must appear for sentence.

The general public thinks that Cook has gone for good. Even if he returned there is the indictment in the Esposito case hanging over him and threats of other indictments.
