Bitter Fight Between Edge and Kean Factions to Bring Out Record Vote in Somerset

Smalley Sure Kean Will Sweep State as Well as Somerset County. Fetterly Says Frelinghuysen Waging Big Fight Against Edge

BOUND BROOK, Sept. 22.—The men behind the Kean campaign in Somerset county are of no uncertain mind as to how the primary election is going to turn out in the borough and the county. They believe that victory sits upon the banners of their chief. How large the majority will be is the only question that appears on the surface of their conversation.

George O. Smalley, who is the campaign manager of Kean in Somerset county, is very certain that his candidate will be swept into office by an overwhelming vote throughout the State. He is very certain of the result in Somerset county.

In an interview this morning, Mr. Smalley said to say: "The people are sick of the Edge machine and they are out for a change. Now, I don't think in the whole country you could have picked a better candidate for the job than Kean. He is being heaved by the supporters of Hamilton Kean and that is not between any one faction of the Republican party."

One prominent Edge worker is Charles Fetterly, who was a candidate for mayor in the last contest for that office. When seen yesterday, Mr. Fetterly had this to say: "One thing that is discussed in this primary contest is whether or not the Edge machine is being heaved by the supporters of Hamilton Kean and that is not between any one faction of the Republican party."

"I maintain that Walter Edge has been a thorough supporter of the Republican party and of President Coolidge, and when the local manager of the Kean party says that the Republican party is being Tammanized in New Jersey, he is saying that the Republican party is being Tammanized over the whole nation because Edge stands as the best type of Republican representative in the Senate."

"On Friday evening some of the supporters of Kean in Bound Brook issued a circular to Republican voters in the borough. It was an appeal 'To All Good Citizens' to vote for their candidate and thus set right the evil conditions that the Edge machine in Bound Brook. They charge these supposed conditions to the Edge administration."

"Anyone will admit that these tactics used by the Kean party to secure the nomination for its candidate are not according to 'Hoyle' and are unusual with the Republican party. I do not believe that Hamilton Kean, for whom I have the greatest respect, would have stooped to this method to secure his nomination. It is apparent on the face of it that the campaign was planned by Ex-Senator Frelinghuysen, and when the local manager of the Kean party, Walter Edge, to me it is remarkable that a man of Hamilton Kean's judgment would countenance the using of his name to father this attack."
