Teachers named at meeting of the school board. English 3, Typewriting 3, Stenography 2, Bookkeeping 2, Business English 1, Shop 2, Sewing 2, Millinery 1, Grade Mathematics 1—Total 27. It is interesting to see that almost one-fourth of the present enrollment in the Americanization classes is made up of those who are preparing to become naturalized in the near future. The fact that there are thirteen women enrolled in the citizenship classes is compared with one-fourth that number in other years shows that the foreign-born women also realize the importance of the advantages these classes can give to women who according to the Cable Act of 1922 must take out separate citizenship papers.

Nationalities—Americanization Division. Hungarians 185, Italians 60, Germans 56, French 27, Czechoslovaks 12, Austrians 11, Spanish 5, Poles 4, Russian 3, Yugoslavians 6, Roumanians 6, Norwegians 4, Russians 4, Swedes 2, Swiss 1, Syrian 1, Estonian 1, Finns 1, Hollanders 1, Chinese 1, Total 403. Hungarians as usual outnumber all other racial groups enrolled in the evening school. In the regular evening school only a very small percentage are foreign-born, and they are pretty well Americanized. "The ages of this group range from 16 to 60. Over one-half, however, below 30."

Educational Equipment. A wide range of educational equipment is shown by the evening school in the Americanization division, we have at one end of the scale, persons who never attended school in their native land; in the middle, persons who have the degree of Doctor of Science from one of the leading European universities. Six years seem to be the average length of school spent in the school by the members of this group. In the regular evening school, approximately the same general conditions obtain. "The work of the evening school has been very satisfactory to date. Registration was carried on promptly and efficiently. Class organization was completed with less loss of time than in former years. Enrollment in the evening school is high and a good percentage of the pupils seem to be attending regularly. A fine spirit of co-operation exists among the teachers and the school will experience another successful year."

GROCER HELD BY THE POLICE

(Continued from Page 1) Monday's shoulder remarked "There's your man." Early yesterday Modwojny issued a statement which resulted in his release by the police. He claimed no knowledge of the shooting until 1 A. M. yesterday when aroused from his sleep by the police. He stated that he had been in the store and that the shooting had been in the store and that he went to the movies. Mrs. Modwojny was called at the same time that her husband was arrested and taken to police headquarters where she was grilled by the officers. Her story and that of her husband conflicted in many points. She told how she returned home and told her husband that she had met Plainmann on the street and he had complained of losing a $20 bill. Her husband doubted the story and said, "That's funny, when he was here he only missed a $10 bill." There was a call to a next door neighbor who had been with Mrs. Modwojny at the time the latter saw Plainmann and the story of the $20 bill was supported. Mrs. Modwojny went to bed while her husband remained in the grocery store. He did not go to bed for some time. After the identification by Mike Modwojny was given another examination by the officers which resulted in a new statement. This came closer to the tale of the shooting as told by the others interested in the case. The police are questioning him further today.

Not a barge left South Amboy all day yesterday until Chief Constable H. H. Blue Sox Athletic Association cleared up the case. A search of the Modwojny store and house has failed to reveal the location of the revolver which was used. The bullet which was taken from the man's body yesterday indicates that the revolver was an old fashioned thirty-caliber colt's revolver.
