GRAND JURY OPENS HUNT FOR BOOZE

Over 80 Cases Listed for Today's Special Session—Bootleggers and Whisky Robbers Sought—Sensation Promised.

The heralded booze cleanup began this morning when the Middlesex county grand jury met here in special session for the purpose of examining the evidence that has been gained by the Prosecutor in his investigation into liquor conditions in the county.

More than 80 cases were listed for today's session, and about 100 witnesses are to be examined. When the morning session was completed it looked as if an all-day session would be necessary to complete its inquiry. No information could be obtained as to how many indictments would be found, but the Prosecutor's detectives were confident that there would be a thorough cleanup on the evidence they have obtained.

Lieut. Heller of the Newark police force and Detective McNeil of the Pennsylvania Railroad force were before the grand jury this morning and it is believed that more indictments will be forthcoming in connection with the recent booze robbery in Newark in which local men were involved. It became known today that the market value of the liquor to bootleggers would be $400,000, instead of the $35,000 at which it was valued by the railroad.

The Jerry O'Brien Detective Agency has had a number of men working in Perth Amboy for more than a week past under the direction of Prosecutor Joseph E. Stricker, while the county detectives have been devoting their attention to the local situation, and sensational disclosures are promised.

It is believed that a number of local men are mixed up in a big interstate liquor traffic having connections in Newark, Perth Amboy, Baltimore and Washington.

TAG DAY TO AID CRITTENTON HOME PUT OFF FOR WEEK

Mayor John J. Morrison presided at a meeting of the Florence Crittenton Tag Day committee which was held at the City Hall yesterday afternoon. STAHLIN ESTATE IS MADE SUBJECT FOR LITIGATION

Litigation has been started in the Court of Chancery over the estate of Harry Stahlin, late of this city, who was drowned at Asbury Park on June 30 last. Mr. Stahlin died intestate, leaving personal estate valued at $18,000. Under the law the entire estate reverted to his widow, Mrs. Maud Stahlin.

Suit has been instituted by Mrs. Stahlin, mother of the decedent, who alleges that a few days after her son's burial an agreement was executed by the terms of which Mrs. Stahlin conveyed to the complainant a one-half interest in her husband's estate.

This agreement contemplated the joint carrying on of the saloon business formerly owned by Harry Stahlin on Hiram street, New Brunswick, and the complainant sets forth that the agreement is now repudiated by Mrs. Stahlin. It is also complained that Mr. Stahlin's widow has sold the saloon business for $2,000 and has refused to give her mother-in-law one-half of the proceeds, and that she has also assumed full title to the money left in bank by the decedent, as well as to his automobile.

Edmund A. Hayes represents the complainant, while Clifford I. Voorhees is counsel for Mrs. Maud Stahlin in the suit.

HARDING MAKING TRIP THROUGH PANAMA CANAL

(By Associated Press.)
CRISTOBAL CANAL ZONE, Nov. 24.—Senator Warren G. Harding, United States president-elect, gave up study of the Panama Canal and returned to the States today. He planned to leave here at 8:30 o'clock on a government mine sweeper and looked forward to his return journey through the waterway.

His trip was more than a sight-seeing expedition, being for the purpose of giving the next president of the United States a personal study of the practical working of the canal. Stops were arranged at Gatun lock and at other points to permit inspection of problems of canal maintenance and management, this inspection being one of the big reasons for Mr. Harding's trip to the canal zone.

Mr. Harding has taken a keen interest in the future of the canal and is known to believe it one of the outstanding national assets as regards foreign commerce. During the debate in Congress relative to the canal, the problem of tolls for American ships received his particular attention, his strong conviction for free passage for American ships having been expressed many times during the last campaign.

Colonel Chester Harding, Governor of the canal zone accompanied him on his trip and tonight will be his host at a dinner on the Pacific coast to be followed by a reception.

CAR TURNS TURTLE IN A HOLD-UP

Men Pursuing Washington Man, in Car Loaded With Whisky, Force Him Into Ditch—They Escape, But Washington Man is Jailed.

Valentine Cudar of 499 E. street, S. W., Washington, D. C., was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of carrying liquor without a permit when his Paige touring car overturned on Middlesex avenue, Metuchen, and twelve cases of whisky in the car were dumped into the road. He is also charged with carrying concealed weapons. He is being held in the county jail here.

Cudar went to Perth Amboy yesterday, it is charged, took on a load of whisky and started back to Baltimore. Upon reaching a point on the Lincoln Highway, Metuchen, below the gravel track, he was overtaken by two men in a Buick car, who had apparently followed him. All he could see of the occupants of the pursuing car was the muzzle of a rifle protruding between the curtains from the back seat and a revolver muzzle appearing from the front seat, accompanied by commands to stop.

Instead of stopping, Cudar put on more speed, but the Buick car crowded him over, until reaching the ditch alongside the road. His car turned turtle with driver and contents underneath.

The men in the Buick sped away as other cars were coming along, and Cudar managed to crawl out in a dazed condition. In the meantime, Officer Schmelzer appeared on the scene, arrested Cudar and took him, his car, which had been righted by the bystanders and contents, which consisted of twelve cases of whisky to police headquarters at Metuchen.

Recorder C. G. Weber was notified and after detaining the car returned the prisoner over to County Detective Fitzpatrick along with the evidence.

Cudar was charged with conveying liquor without a permit and also with carrying a concealed weapon in the shape of a .45-calibre Colt automatic U. S. model and four full clips of cartridges with a clip and one cartridge in the pistol.

He declared positively that he could not remember where he got the liquor. He said it was in Perth Amboy, but although he gave the police several descriptions of the place they were unable to locate it from his description.

Word was later received by the authorities that a Buick car answering the description of the one Cudar said tried to stop him was seen going on along the Lincoln Highway as far as Highland Park, doubling back along Woodbridge avenue and apparently trying to reach New York in that way. The car bore a New York license. Police in Rahway, Elizabeth and Newark were notified but the car was not located again.

THIEVES DROP SAFE TWO STORIES TO BREAK IT OPEN

METUCHEN, Nov. 24.—When Reginald B. Crowell of the firm of W. A. Crowell & Son, feed merchants, opened the Crowell business place this morning he found that the safe had disappeared. As the strong box weighs a half-ton or more a mystery developed at once.

After searching the premises upstairs and downstairs, the elevator was lifted and the safe was found in the elevator pit.

Upon studying the situation the deduction was formed that the safe had been taken upstairs on the elevator by thieves and dropped two stories in apparent hope of breaking it open. Only one wheel was broken off, however.

There were evidences that the thieves had procured a pick axe and crow bar and tried to break open the strong box with these implements, but were again foiled. The intruders broke the wire glass on a rear door and removed the bolt, thus gaining entrance. They covered all the windows with empty bags to conceal their workings.

The only thing found missing was a check of B. Wittberst which was in the cash drawer and payment on which has of course, been stopped. No arrests has yet been made.

Park Republicans Want Eggert For Road Supervisor

Petitions addressed to the Board of Freeholders are in circulation urging the appointment of John Eggert of Perth Amboy to the job of road supervisor. Mr. Eggert has the support of Freeholder-elect Walter G. Quakenbush, who now holds the road position.

The petitions were circulated yesterday in Perth Amboy and were freely signed by many prominent Republicans of that city, who point to the fact that only one county job is held down by a Perth Amboy Republican and they state that it is about time that the practice of giving all the jobs to New Brunswick Republicans is stopped.

The fire of the G. O. P. cohorts of Perth Amboy has been aroused over the "turn down" of John Hunt for appointment of under-sheriff. Mr. Hunt is an ex-employee man and the Republicans "down the river" claim that they had the promise that the appointment of Perth Amboy man. Mr. Hunt was endorsed by the Perth Amboy G. O. P. but failed to land the job.

The entrance of Mr. Eggert in the road supervisor race complicates now actively seeking the appointment. Four candidates are mentioned, but the leading point is John H. Losen of Woodbridge. Others seeking the job are Frank Oughen of New Brunswick and James W. Hackett of South Amboy.

$1,200 FOOT SECURED AT PAWN SHOP

Equipped with a brace and several bits and a sectional jimmy similar to one found in the rear of the Five and Ten Cent Store about a year ago when an attempt was made to rob that store, thieves broke into the Eagle Loan Company store on Hiram street some time last night and made off with pawned jewelry valued at $1,200. The robbery was discovered shortly after 7 o'clock this morning when the place was opened for business.

The jimmy left by the thieves is about an inch and a half in diameter and was apparently designed for use to jimmy the safe in the pawn shop. The bits were well oiled but were not used as the thieves found the safe unlocked.

An entrance to the place was gained through a rear window of the store. There is a heavy wooden shutter on this window but the hinges of the Ford Motor Company, which prevented the shutter being tightly secured. The thieves had no trouble in raising the window and getting into the store.

The bolt of one of the hinges of the safe was found on the floor in front of the safe and it is presumed that the thieves were about to take the doors of the strong box when the unlocked doors flew open. The safe is of an old-fashioned design with wooden compartments. In these compartments, the pawned jewelry was kept.

The compartments were smashed and every article of value removed. Gold watches, valentines, rings, stick pins and $175 in gold was stolen by the thieves and a value of $1,200 was placed upon these articles by George Levy, who was formerly connected with the loan shop.

Detective Sergeant George Dunn was assigned to the case and upon investigating picked up several clues which may lead to the arrest of the yeggs.

The loan shop was conducted by Abe and George Levy until about three months ago when the business was dissolved. Under the terms of the dissolution, the pawning end of the business was taken over by George Levy, who was formerly connected with the loan shop.

Detective Sergeant George Dunn was assigned to the case and upon investigating picked up several clues which may lead to the arrest of the yeggs.

Mr. Rice now lives on Adelaide avenue, but he will move his residence to the Meyer property. This is one of the handomest and best equipped places in the vicinity. Mr. Rice is a Wall street broker and is a son of the late Judge J. Kearny Rice of this city.

THINK WOMAN IN MAN'S CLOTHES IN PIERCE'S CAR

(By Associated Press.)
WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 24.—Police officials here today made more positive identification of the auto of Henry T. Pierce, manufacturers' agent, found deserted in the office at Philadelphia on Monday and whose car had been left at a local garage. Under the cushion of the driver's seat, an envelope addressed to Mr. Henry T. Pierce, of Washington, Pa., was found, containing a statement for $22.50 worth of merchandise rendered by the William H. Moon Co. of Morrisville, Pa. The statement was dated July 21, 1920.

City detectives assigned to the case advanced the theory that one of the two supposed men who stopped at the garage with the car's contents, a woman dressed in men's clothing. The actions of the man's passengers were told by the night manager of the garage, led to this conclusion.

ANNA MCGUIRE MEETS DEATH IN ACCIDENT

Former Stenographer at Wright Aeronautical Plant Here Is Victim of Automobile at Paterson—Resided at Weston's Mill and Will be Buried in This City.

While returning from work at the Wright Aeronautical Company's plant at Paterson, early last evening, Miss Anna McGuire of the Weston's Mill road, was run down by an automobile and fatally injured. She was crossing Madison avenue in Paterson a short distance from her boarding house, when she was struck by a touring car driven by John Poole, Jr., proprietor of a hotel at Midvale, N. J. The accident occurred at 8:40 o'clock. Miss McGuire was carrying an umbrella and was hurrying to her boarding house in a downpour of rain. She stepped from the curb directly in front of the touring car. The driver of the car applied the brakes and in so doing the car skidded and turned over, crushing Miss McGuire beneath the overturned machine.

Poole was thrown from his seat but escaped serious injury. Several pedestrians who witnessed the accident formed a rescuing party and dragged Miss McGuire from beneath the car. She was removed in an unconscious condition to the Paterson Hospital and at 8:15 o'clock passed away.

Mrs. Mary McGuire, mother of the young woman, received the shocking news of her daughter's death shortly before 10 o'clock last evening and hurried to Paterson. She will accompany the body to this city late this afternoon. Mrs. McGuire, who lost her husband only about a year ago, was almost prostrated with grief.

An autopsy was performed upon the body of the young woman this morning and it was ascertained that she died from a punctured lung. The body was removed to the Paterson city morgue and will remain pending shipment of the remains to this city.

The driver of the machine was taken into custody by the Paterson police and this morning he was arraigned before Recorder William H. Young who committed him to the Passaic county jail without bail. County Judge William W. Hart will fix bail this afternoon on a charge of manslaughter.

The victim of the accident was a very charming young woman. She was employed for some time by Wright Aeronautical Company in New Brunswick in the capacity of stenographer. When the company moved its plant to Paterson last July, Miss McGuire was tendered a position in an executive capacity. She accepted the position and took up her residence in Paterson in place of that she might be near her place of employment.

Arrangements for the funeral are still incomplete. They are in charge of Undertaker William F. Harding of this city. Miss McGuire is survived by her mother, three brothers, Frank, John and Thomas, and one sister, Miss Margaret McGuire.
