A HANDSOME GIRL SOLD FOR $500 CASH.

Summit Stirred Up by the Unholy Traffic and One Arrest Follows.

PLAINFIELD, March 20.—No incident has stirred the quiet town of Summit recently like the discovery of a man in the colony of Armenians there who is accused of selling a fourteen-year-old girl, of his own nationality, to another man, who compelled the girl to marry him. The discovery was made after a long search for facts, which included investigation in France and in Boston.

The girl, who is described as a handsome one, was sent by her parents from Armenia to her aunt, who lives in Summit. She had been a witness of the Turkish atrocities among her people a few years ago, and was sent here, to grow up under brighter prospects. She started from home in the care of the man who is charged now with having sold her to another, when they reached France, for $500. The trio came to Boston and there the girl escaped, coming to Summit. The man followed, and his arrest was made there.
